50 years ago today (20 Dec 1975) Australian Kevin Shawcross, aged 27, beat Ali Aziz from Egypt 9-2 9-7 9-6 to win the British Amateur Championship at Wembley Squash Centre. Variously termed as being larger than life or colourful, stories of his riotous off-court life abound.

Built like a rugby player, a sport he tried but came to an end due to a knee injury, he was a talented and disciplined player. Soon after he was to turn professional, as did Aziz. Shawcross (pictured) sadly passed away only 12 years later in 1987.

The full list of past British Amateur winners, dating from 1922/3 season, is on the Library website in the Worldwide Winners directory at <https://www.squashlibrary.info/worldwide-winners>

	Current	Pre-2023
Competition Format	Round robin pool Stage, followed by a knockout Stage	Round robin pool Stage, followed by a knockout Stage
Team Composition	teams of two men and two women	teams of two men and one woman
Playing Order	Woman #2, Man #1, Woman #1, Man #2 Or Man #2, Woman #1, Man #1, Woman #2 by coin toss	#1 Man, Women's, #2 Men's.
Match Scoring	All matches played best of 5 games to 7 points. At 6-6, the game still played to 7 points.	All matches 5 games PAR scoring to 11 points.
Tie Scoring	Finishing positions in pools will be determined by total matches accrued across all ties in that pool, e.g. a 4-0 result scores 4 to the winner and 0 to the losing team; a tie (2-2) between teams with the same number of wins will be determined first by the head-to-head result between teams and if still equal by games differential and then points differential. If still equal, then by coin toss. At stage 2 (knock-out), in the event of a 2-2 draw, with the same number of wins, games differential and if still equal by points differential across the four matches in the tie, if still equal the result will be determined by the head-to-head result of the first match played in the tie.	The final order decided, - first by greater number of ties won - if 2 teams still equal, then the result between the teams - if 3 or more teams have won the same number of ties, then by greater positive difference between games won and lost - if 2 teams still equal, then by result between the 2 teams - if 3 or more teams still equal, then by greater positive difference between games won and lost - if 2 teams still equal, then by result between the 2 teams - if 3 or more teams still equal, then by greater positive difference between points won and lost - if 2 teams still equal, then by result between the 2 teams - if more than two teams still equal, then by lottery.

The 24th Annual General Meeting of the World Squash Federation in Guernsey unanimously re-elected HRH Prince Imran (Malaysia) as President for a third term. The 3 Vice-Presidents of the Federation Susie Simcock (New Zealand), Bob Finch (Australia) and Philip van der Ven (Netherlands) were also returned for further 2 year terms.

The meeting voted to increase the maximum number of teams allowed to compete in World Championships from 24 to 32 and restructured the format to allow the top 16 teams to be seeded into potential winning positions. In future, specialist seeding committees will be utilised to place teams in the draw, overcoming the seeding problems which disrupted the Men's Championship in Karachi last year. Prince Imran said: "The dramatic growth of Squash in Africa and South America has placed enormous pressure on the WSF to admit more nations to our Team Championships. The welcome and overwhelming support for our motion to increase to 32 teams reflects the increased voting power of these newer Squash nations."

Two contested bids for future championships were decided when Egypt won the right to host the 1996 World Junior Men's event and Malaysia defeated the Netherlands in the ballot for the 1997 Men's World Open & World Team Championships.

The meeting reconfirmed that the Federation's most important objective is to gain entry to the Olympic programme and committed maximum efforts to the campaign to be present in Sydney in the year 2000.

1992 was a key year for South African squash. South Africa had voluntarily suspended its membership of the world body in the interest of unity of the Federation and to support squash's Olympic aspirations, but on 21 February 1992 a unified Squash South Africa was created. Three months later on 29 May the country was re-admitted to the ISRF (now WSF). Then, in August that year it sent a team to Hong Kong to participate in the men's World Juniors to end the hiatus. Here is that World Junior 1992 squad. Squash South AfricaWorld Squash Federation

Squash Library 15 September at 07:47 - ④ The programme for the Men's World Team Championship 1979 in Brisbane, Australia – held just prior to amateur status being abolished – featured squad biographies of the competing squads. AUSTRALIA
DAVID HUSTON MANAGER-COACH David Huston is a former player and administrator of the game. He is a former member of the Australian team and a former coach of the Australian Junior team. During this period he twice defeated the name of Geoffrey Hunt, the Australian coach, in the World Individual Championships. All Australians are extremely proud of Melbourne born Geoff, not only for his magnificent achievements on the international stage but also for his contribution on and off the court. He is a true Australian. David is a former coach of the Australian Junior team. Geoff on the coining was the green and gold, we are indeed very fortunate to have him as our coach. Geoff's presence will undoubtedly engender an atmosphere of enthusiasm among the Australian players.	IAN YEATES At the comparatively young age of 22 years Ian is competing in his second World Team Championship. He is a school teacher he learnt his squash in Bowral where his parents were living and he represented his State of New South Wales since 1976. He has been more recently in the senior team at the National Titles. In 1975 Ian was the youngest member of the team. The transition to senior ranks was so rapid that two years later he was the captain. Ian has had considerable overseas experience he competed in this year's World Team Championships in New Zealand and in 1977 and 1978, Ian was New South Wales champion in 1977 and 1978.
FRANK DONNELLY Now 29 years of age Frank has come a long way since he first started playing squash. He was born in the Queensland provincial city of Bundaberg, he was a member of the Bundaberg Squash Club from 1970 to 1972. In 1972 he won the Queensland Junior and was selected for the Queensland team. In 1973 he moved to New Zealand with the Australian team for 23 days. Frank has been the team's coach ever since. In 1975 he was the team's captain. He has been the team's coach ever since. To impress his game Frank has come from Europe and the USA. In 1976 he was the Australian team captain and in 1978 he has been Frank's crowning year as he unseated Geoff Hunt in the World Individual Championships. He became only the third Aussie ever to win the World Individual Title. He has also been selected for the Nationals at least once. He has been the captain of the team since 1978. This is the second World Team Frank has competed in. The USA F. World Titles having been in number 1 position in 1978. Frank's coaching record is excellent. He has been the National Junior captain and has had his Australian team in training.	ROSS THORNE At 21 years of age Ross is the most recent player to wear an Australian uniform. His magnificent performances in the 1978 and 1979 World Team Championships have seen him 8th to 4th seeded Australian. His game has improved greatly this year no doubt influenced to some degree by his participation in the 1979 World Individual Championships. He has represented Queensland since 1975 and the National Titles since 1977. Ross has recently unseated the National Title. In Brisbane he competes with the Brisbane Club, one of the venues for the 1980 World Team Events.
GLEN BRUMFITT Glen Brumfitt is a man to respect it is hard to believe that he is still a junior player – currently ranked seventh in the world. Glen has been the Australian team captain since 1977 and the Australian Junior team which arrived in Brisbane in 1979. Glen has been the Australian team captain since 1977 when he won the World Individual Event. Glen has been the captain of the Australian team since he unseated the World Junior Title this year in London. Glen has represented South Australia at the Nationals since 1977 and 1978 and was runner-up in the National Senior Title in 1978, his most recent.

Today 15 years ago (1 Aug 2010) in the thinner air of elevated Quito, Ecuador, the men's World Junior individual title was won by Amr Khaled Khalifa. The Egyptian (pic) beat countryman Ali Farag in the final.

Farag missed out at junior level but did have a stellar career winning four senior world titles.

The World Doubles were first played in 1997 (details here: <https://www.squashlibrary.info/world-championships>), but in March 1972 'The Invitation World Doubles Championships' were played in England. Staged at the Lansdowne Club in London and West Surrey SRC, they were an initiative from Mike Corby Promotions, with Corby teaming up with Jonah Barrington the home side. Geoff Hunt and Ken Hiscoe were the Australian pair, Gogi Alaudin and Hiday Jahan fronted for Pakistan, and Mo Asran and Abdelfattah Aboutaleb the Egyptian pairing. The finishing positions: 1st Australia, 2nd Egypt, 3rd Pakistan, 4th GB. World Squash Federation Squash Australia Egyptian Squash Federation - المصرى للsquash

Squash Library has been seeking out past World Masters results to add to www.squashinfo.com on behalf of WSF. Anybody wanting to see past results can do so generally from the last 16 round for each age group for every year. However, there are still some results missing so this is an appeal to send them to me: andrew@squashlibrary.info if you have them please. Specifically, for 1993 (Edinburgh) and 2006 (Cape Town), only the quarter finals onwards have been added, so last 16 round results would be welcomed. But the real priority is 1995 (Melbourne) where only the final results have been sourced. Any and all missing results welcomed, please.

When the World titles are decided today, there will be debut winners if Mostafa Asal and Hania El Hammamy prevail. However, in the two all-Egyptian finals, an eighth win for Nour ElSherbini would take her alongside current title record holder Nicol David (MAS). Meanwhile, a fifth crown for Ali Farag would move him ahead of fellow Egyptian Amr Shabana and Australian Geoff Hunt into solo third spot on the all-time list.

Two players already in the top five of all-time world championship winners have a chance of improving their positions. Nour ElSherbini could become joint number one alongside Nicol David if she can take the title; while fellow Egyptian Ali Farag can move one win closer to equaling Jahangir Khan's six – two behind Jansher Khan. PSA Squash TourWorld Squash FederationEgyptian Squash Federation - Pakistan Squash Federation Malaysia Squash Federation Australia Squash New Zealand Poipatū Aotearoa

The second men's World Open in 1977 was the first stand-alone event - the inaugural title the year before being added for the British Open winner. Originally scheduled to take place in Sydney, it was relocated to another Australian city – Adelaide. Played October 11 to 22 at the Brahma Lodge Squash Centre, Uniroyal sponsored the event with AS40,000 (£26,000) in prize money - the richest offered in the history of squash at that point. Last round here, full results at <https://www.squashinfo.com/events/1025-mens-world-open-1977>. This week in 2003 Carol Owens beat Cassie Jackman (ENG) 3-1 to win her 2nd World Open title in Hong Kong (pic) – then promptly announced her retirement! The Australian who had moved to New Zealand a couple of years previously was then also world number 1. After 15 years and 27 wins from 50 Tour finals and aged 32 she said 'Being No1 in the world is as good as it gets, and I have no regrets about calling it a day'. This week, thirty years ago, over two and a half years after his last British Open win, Jahangir Khan returned after injury and seeming retirement to reach the 1993 World Open final. He lost to Jansher Khan, but the following day they joined up to spearhead Pakistan beating Australia in the final to win their sixth World Team title – on his home turf of Karachi. He then officially retired.

On this day in 1998 Sarah Fitz-Gerald staged a memorable squash comeback to beat fellow Australian Michelle Martin in the final of the Women's World Open in Stuttgart, Germany. Martin (a 3 times winner) was 8-2 up in the fifth, but having saved seven match points Fitz-Gerald took the match 10/9, to win the third of her five World Open titles. On this day (6 Nov) in 1989 Australian Chris Dittmar beat Jahangir Khan 15-9 12-15 15-9 9-15 15-13 in nine minutes short of two hours in the Men's World Open semi-finals at the Putra World Trade Centre in Kuala Lumpur. A day later he met Jahangir's Pakistani countryman Jansher Khan in the final, coming so close to beating the pre-eminent pair. In another titanic match he went down 10-15 6-15 15-4 15-11 15-10 in 1hr 44m. (His KL win was the second of eight World Open crowns for Jansher, beating Dittmar in his first four finals). For juniors, each year either the male or female World Team Championships follow the individual events. After 2010 for individual events without a team championship the top 8 players play off to decide positions 1 to 8. But where there is a following team championship play-offs for 3 to 8 do not take place, to provide a rest day for almost all players.

In September 1979 a world title was played for on a portable glass backwall court for the first time. It was when the Men's World Open that took place at the Etobicoke Olympium Sports Centre in the Etobicoke suburb of Toronto, Canada. The court had 44 integral Perstorp court parts and was built in less than three days. (The other court walls were made from textured laminate bonded onto panels).

World Team Championship history was made in 2016 when sisters represented different countries. While Rachael Grinham was battling for Australia at the Team event in Paris, her younger sister Natalie was in action on behalf of Netherlands, the country in which she had resided since 1999. They didn't play each other though. www.squashlibrary.info/world-championships for full World Championship details. The maximum number of national teams who have been able to play in a World Team Championship is 32, more entries meaning regional qualification is required. (Entries & results at <https://www.squashlibrary.info/world-championships>). The maximum has not been exceeded but The Men's has reached 32 on three occasions: 1995 – Cairo, Egypt, 1997 – Petaling Jaya, Malaysia and 2011 – Paderborn, Germany. (The first staging in Melbourne, Australia in 1967 featured six nations).

The Women's highest entry was 26 nations at the 2012 edition in Nîmes, France; after also starting with six at the debut event in Birmingham, England in 1979.

P. NUMBERS OF TEAMS AND FORMATS

P1. A maximum of 32 MNFs will qualify to provide teams for a World Team Championship: 17 MNFs (including the Host) will qualify for places on the basis of their final placement in the preceding similar World Team Championship; the remaining 15 places will be allocated to the five WSF Regional Federations as follows:

Africa	2 places
Asia	4 Places
Europe	4 Places
Oceania	1 Place
Pan-America	4 Places

These places will be determined by each Regional Federation either by results from existing Regional Team Championships played between teams of players representing the competing MNFs (preferably three-person teams) or, where this is inappropriate, by separate play-offs within the Region. If any Region fails to take up its quota, the WSF Championships Commission will decide on substitute(s).

(The Library World Championship compendia are at <https://www.squashlibrary.info/world-championships>)

When she played her team first match on the first day of the 1997 Women's World Junior Championship at the AABB Club in Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, she was still nearly two weeks short of her 12th birthday! In her four World Junior Team events she only lost one of the 23 matches she played, that to formidable Malaysian Nicol David. Meanwhile, she was runner up in the accompanying World Junior Individual in 01 & her junior career culminated in winning the title in 2003.

The first Men's World Open was not played as a separate event - the World Federation agreed in 1975 that the winner of the 1976 British Open would be awarded the world title too. It was played at the Wembley Squash Centre in London, 31 Jan – 9 Feb 1976, and 2nd seed Australian Geoff Hunt beat 4th ranked Mohibullah Khan 7-9, 9-4, 8-10, 9-2, 9-2 in the final. The 130 minute match was the longest recorded at that point. Two other Pakistanis, Qamar Zaman & Gogi Alauddin were seeded 1 & 3 respectively. Hunt (pictured with the two trophies) went on to win the next three World Open titles too, beating Qamar Zaman in each final. When World Championships began the host nation chose which ball would be used. That ended after the Swedish hosts of the World Juniors in 1980 decided on the green 'general use' ball (1980 ad here), much to the shock of players & managers. Since then Since then an 'adopted' World Championship Ball has been designated.

Although World Squash Championships have been held in all the five global squash regions, the first held in mainland China was the WSF Women's World Team event in 2018. It was held 11 – 16 September in the city of Dalian.

It took place at the Xigang Stadium, home of a squash centre with four permanent all-glass courts made by the Chinese CGG court company.

For the event a further two showcourts were erected in the sport hall – making it unique in using six glass showcourts for an event!

The format of World Team Championships now mean that ordinarily a nation plays a maximum of seven ties. But go back to October 1987 where the entry for the Men's World Team Championship in England was eight more than the previous record, the format meant that 20 nations were given direct access into initial pools, joined by four qualifiers from the two preliminary pools of four teams. The winners went straight through but the second & third in the pools had a playoff tie.

After six team pools, the final stage was 1 – 8, 9 – 16 and 17 – 24 places. This meant that Norway, and Kuwait who succeeded in the preliminary pools after playoffs had played a total of 12 times. And only two players – Norway's Johan Abyholm (left) and Kuwaiti Tariq Al-Oweish, featured in all 12. For the record, Abyholm won 8, while Al-Oweish won 2.

The first 'stand-alone' World Masters event was held in Auckland, New Zealand, in 1991. Before then various Men's & Women's Masters events held with other Championships were given World Championship status. The first was in 1976 when the Men's British Open Masters events, then called Veterans and Vintage events (the informal titles for the Over 45 and Over 55 age groups), were upgraded to World Championship status. 11 November 1986 was a squash milestone – being the date when Ross Norman ended Jahangir Khan's 7-year unbeaten spell in the final of the World Open at the Palais Des Sports in Toulouse, France.

But three years earlier was a significant time too. The summer of 1983 was when the New Zealander wrecked his knee landing awkwardly on the edge of the runway at the end of his first ever parachute jump. He reported it as 'it felt like falling out of a two-storey building'. Having severed one ligament and displaced another it seemed unlikely that he would play again. He did, and the rest, as they say, is history!

For every World Open winner there is a final loser too. The record of number of finals reached without a win goes to two great players who were very unlucky not to have won a 'worlds'. Australian Chris Dittmar with five, losing four times to Jansher Khan, (87, 89 in pic, 90 & 92) and once to Jahangir Khan (84). Natalie Grinham lost three finals under the Australian flag Vanessa Atkinson (04), Nicol David (06) and sister Rachael (07); and one to David (09) as a Dutch player.

The first Men's World Open took place in 1976, not separately but as a joint title with the British Open – as a month before the start the sponsorship had not been found to fund the prize money. At that point a chance meeting between Jonah Barrington and an executive from British automotive company Lucas Industries led to a last-minute rescue enabling Australian Hunt to beat Pakistani Mohibullah Khan in the final 7/9, 9/4, 8/10, 9/2, 9/2 to win the first of his three World Opens (after previously winning three World Amateur crowns).

Jansher Khan holds the record for Men's World Championship titles, with 8, two ahead of fellow Pakistani Jahangir Khan. His first was in 1987 in England, the last in his own country, in Karachi, in 1996. He only lost one final, to Jahangir in 1988 in Amsterdam, though his run was also interrupted in 1991 in Adelaide, Australia, when Rodney Martin beat Jahangir in the final, having beaten Jansher in the quarters. With Egypt seeded one and hot favourites to retain the WSF Men's World Team Championship this month their path towards dominance may be relatively short, but is clear. It started with the Junior Men's in 1994 when Egypt won their first ever team title led by Ahmed Barada & Omar Elborollosy. (All are biennial and this one has been won six times). Juniors moved up and after the first Men's won on home ground in 1999, four of these titles have been won in all – but with England proving to be a stumbling block with three of their own during this period. The same pattern was followed on the female side with the juniors coming first. After a first title in 1999 the girls have eight in total including the last six. The Egyptian Women's team took their first title in 2008 and have four titles in all. The Land of The Pharaohs currently hold all four major World Team titles.
