On this day (6 November) in 1989 YAM Tunku Imran was elected as the 5th World Federation President since its inception in 1967. The AGM took place in his home country of Malaysia. Imran was the first national champion of Malaysia in 1973, and served the maximum two presidential terms before becoming Patron of the Federation.

He has also served as an IOC member and Commonwealth Games Federation President, always promoting squash in his genial but forceful way; and was instrumental in squash securing a first slot on the Commonwealth Games programme as well as pushing squash's efforts towards the Olympic Games place.

Hong Kong Squash became the first National Sports Association to receive "Directors of The Year Awards" in the categories of Statutory / Non-profit-distributing Organizations by The Hong Kong Institute of Directors in 2017. The award recognised achievement in demonstrating the high standards in corporate governance. @hong kong squash

Chairman Mr. David Mui (pictured left) and the Association's General Committee, were commended by the panel of judges saying, "The Board of Hong Kong Squash has established sound principles and procedures in terms of corporate governance, with policies on risk management, financial controls, internal controls, compliance and reporting in place. Its supervision and evaluation of strategic plans developed by the management team contribute to the continual success of the organization. The Board totally deserves the Award."

Canada and USA could not become members of the ISRF (previous name of WSF) when it was founded in 1967 as at the time their emphasis on hardball meant that they could not readily participate in international competition. However, the two important countries became Associate Members in 1968 then Full members in 1969, and retrospectively in 1971 were given founder member status. The World Squash Federation What it is and what it does

WSF MISSION
The World Governing Body for Squash the WSF's mission is to keep the sport growing and maintain its quality and reputation as one of the most interesting and enjoyable participant and spectator sports in the world.

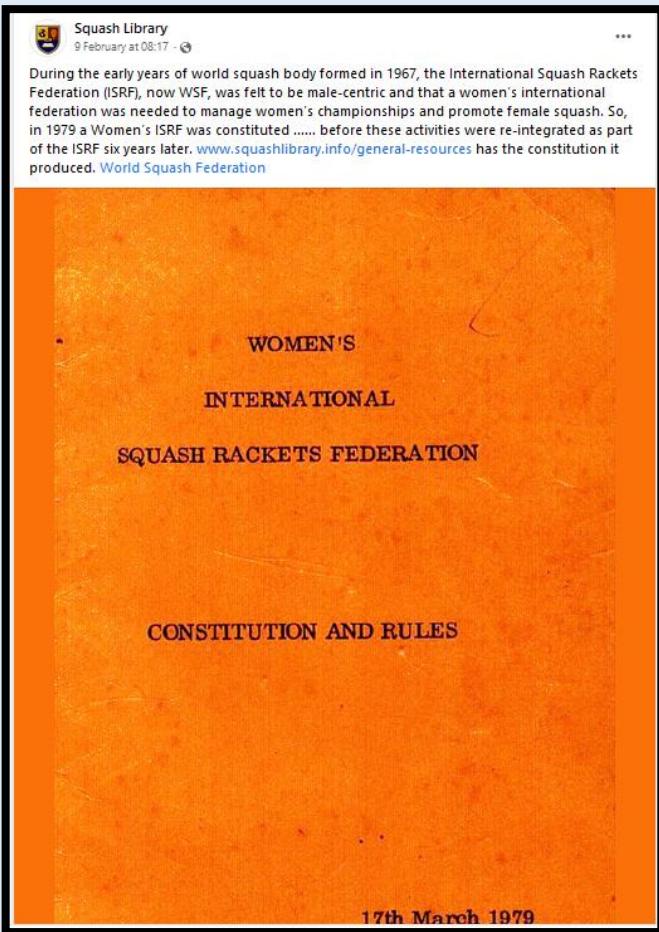

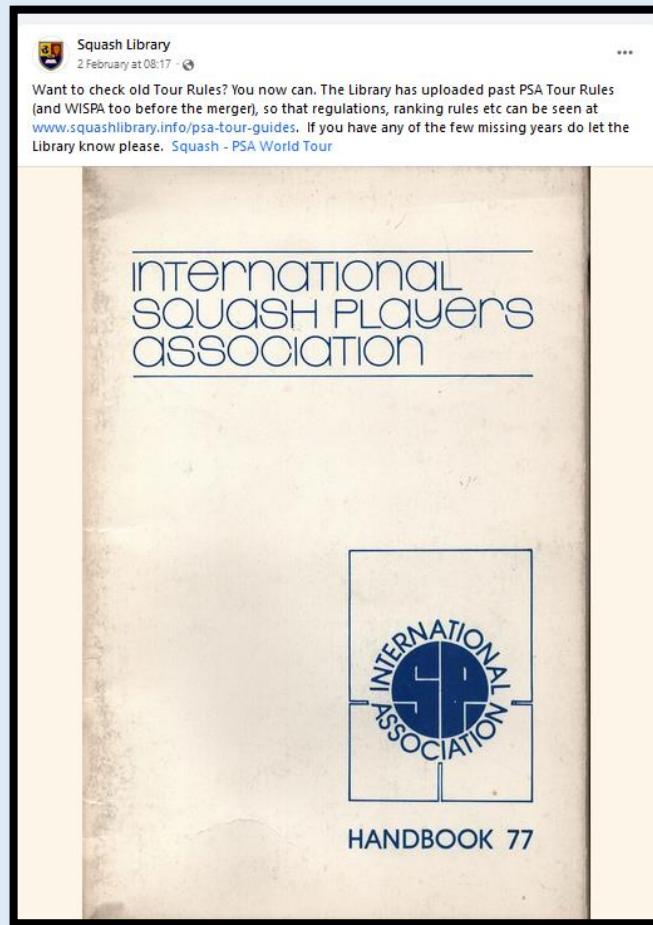

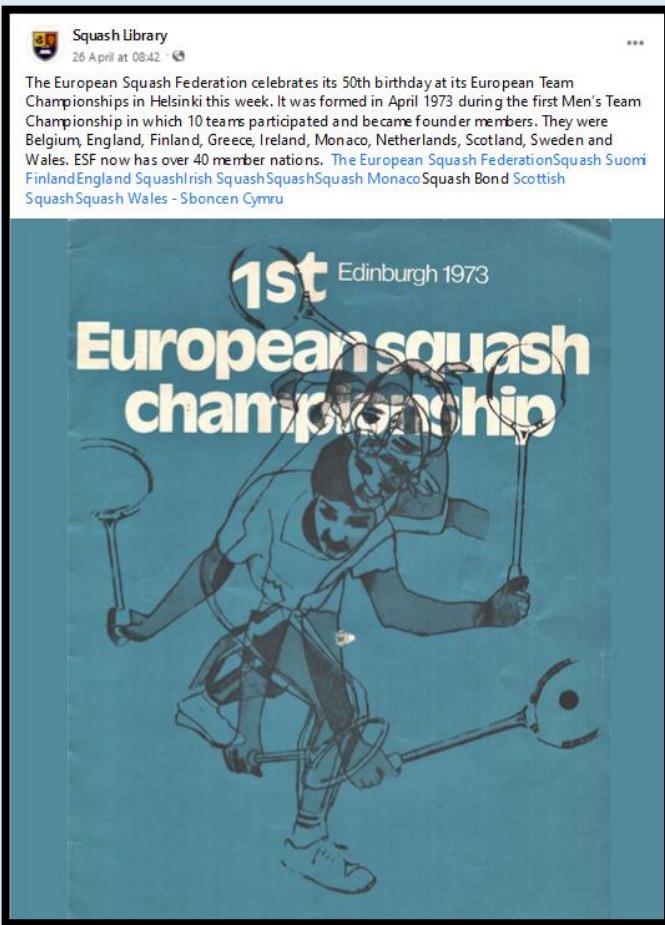

WSF AND THE WORLD SQUASH FEDERATION
The sport of Squash was first played over 100 years ago and is now played in over 130 countries. The World Squash Federation was formed in 1967 to promote and co-ordinate the sport, the name being changed in 1992 to the World Squash Federation (WSF). WSF is recognised by the International Olympic Committee (IOC) as International Federation for Squash. It is a member of the General Association of International Sports Federations (GAISF) and the Association of IOC Recognised International Sports Federations (AISF), the President of which is a WSF Vice-President.

MEMBERSHIP OF THE WSF
The WSF has 105 Members, all of which are National Associations of Squash, recognised by their National Olympic Association or Ministry of Sport. Member nations are required to be in membership of one of the Regional Squash Federations, which are an integral part of the structure.

MANAGEMENT OF THE WSF
WSF is controlled by a Management Committee responsible for the day-to-day work of the Federation. The Committee is elected by Member nations and consists of a President and three Vice-Presidents, who serve two year terms of office. An Executive Committee, consisting of Management Committee plus one Regional Vice-President appointed by each of the five Regional Federations, assists the President with policy making decisions. The WSF President is the sole representative of the WSF at the IOC.

COACHING
The WSF is responsible for coordinating the programme of training and accreditation by member nations and the comparison of qualifications. The Federation appoints Consultant Coaches whose prime role is to undertake projects within member associations.

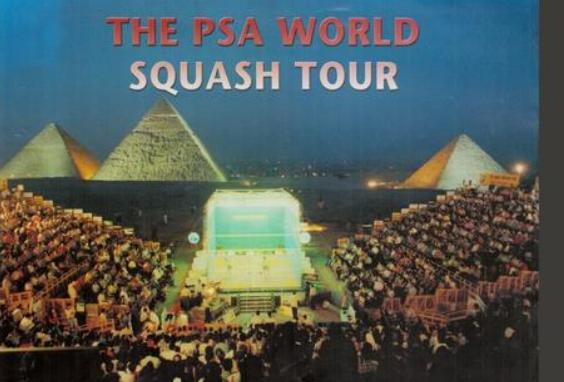

DEVELOPMENT
One of the most important of all the functions undertaken by the WSF is the development of Squash, not only in countries where it is already established, but also where it is already established. Advice on matters is given to member nations and implementation specialists recommended by the WSF.

30 years ago in July 1992 the World Professional Squash Association (WPSA), the North American Hardball group, updated its members on the intended merger with ISPA (now PSA) with these details. (Go to www.squashlibrary.info/post/psa-forming-the-federation for the Library resource on the history of PSA). Squash - PSA World Tour

WPSA/ISPA Merger Update

Extensive discussions between the WPSA and the International Squash Players Association (ISPA) continue to move the professional players association towards a merger. Particulars of the crossover will be encouraged and expected.

The result of WPSA Executive Director John Naucliff's three-day trip to London and Cardiff, Wales, home of the ISPA, was the first draft constitution for an integrated world body.

Comprehensive evaluation by the WPSA Board and membership voted to propose the two bodies to merge. A proposed new constitution, an amalgamation of the WPSA By-laws and the current ISPA Constitution, and the creation of a Board of Directors and Executive Director to be taken by the WPSA. The working title of the new global sanctioning and players organization is PSA (Professional Squash Association) (PSA).

Although the working title and several key financial points are not completely settled, the WPSA and ISPA have been made on the majority of merger issues. As ISPA Executive Director Roger Eady points out, "We are very excited to effect this merger. The WPSA has tremendous growth potential for professional and recreational squash. The WPSA has proven its expertise in promoting both events and tournaments, standardizing and standardizing Teaching Pros. Now that soft ball is gaining in popularity so rapidly in the U.S., having a cooperative association with the WPSA and its resources can only be a significant gain for the world game."

The question of the hard ball game is an obvious issue in the merger discussions. Agreement has already been reached by the two associations to include hard ball doubles and singles rankings in the published "world" rankings. In addition, 25 per cent of all qualifying spots in all draws will be open to "non-ranked" players. Particulars of the crossover will be encouraged and expected.

The premise of the merger continues to prove that the two bodies, political and financial, moratorium decision-making autonomy, WPSA Board and membership votes to be the ultimate authority over all internal business and policies of the North American PSA division until December 1, 1994. At that time, the WPSA Board will have the authority over all aspects of PSA business.

The WPSA Board will be represented by the WPSA Board members, representatives, voted on by all PSA members worldwide. The PSA Executive Director, currently Roger Eady, and two (2) North American representatives from the WPSA will be the Executive Slave to the WPSA Board with the authority over all aspects of PSA business.

The current plan is to proceed on the merger by the July 12 WPSA Board Meeting to review the PSA Constitution and Letter of Agreement, and an August 7 Annual General Meeting to seek confirmation of the merger. AGM is tentatively scheduled for 3:30 p.m. on the Friday at the Loews New York Hotel in New York City. Elections for committee members and the Executive Slave to the WPSA Board will take place at that time.

It is necessary for the WPSA to have two-thirds of the members in the AGM to effect a voting quorum. The Association is planning a full day of subsidized activity around the August 7

AGM. Tentatively, golf and tennis are being planned for the Apawamus Club in the morning and a cocktail/dinner party (guitarists invited at some hip NY spot after the meeting). (Organized by Rick Wahlsdorf.) The WPSA is planning to offset the costs of some of this activity, so if you are a member, hopefully, this day will be enjoyable and memorable.

Please continue to communicate with Rob Herrick, Jack Herrick, the Board, John Naucliff, Samir Mousa and others involved, with your thoughts and suggestions. We look forward to seeing as many of you as possible on August 7 for the confirmation of these plans.

Ten years ago Dutchman Lou Zandvliet, credited as the founder of the European Squash Federation, passed away at the age of 84. An international player, Zandvliet had the idea of forming a group of European countries to compete against each other and to promote the welfare of Squash, within Europe.
The European Squash Rackets Federation was founded on 17th April 1973, organised by a team of honorary officers and Lou Zandvliet was, from the start, one of the elected vice-chairmen. And following Lennart Iepsen's (Sweden) term of office as Chairman at the beginning until 1977, Lou Zandvliet was his natural successor. He presided until 1985.

After coaching and assisting at events for a number of years, in 1993 Liz Addison started with Squash South Africa. Now 28 years later almost certainly the most experienced administrator in Africa is retiring this month.

For the last 20 years (since 2001) she has been Secretary General for the African Squash Federation as the nations wanted her talents too!

To her coaching and event background (including acting as Technical Delegate numerous times), grass roots development always featured highly in areas that she would promote and encourage.

Knowledgeable, experienced, patient and immensely popular too, she has been the go-to person to manage any requirements in her country and region, so it is doubtful that she will be allowed to retire fully!

In 2004 a landmark joint World Squash Anti-Doping Code was signed between the World Federation (WSF) and the Men's & Women's Pro Tours (then PSA & WISPA). The three associations published a common code in their regulations so that testing and penalty procedures became jointly administered.

At that time the Director General of WADA, the World Anti-Doping Agency, stated "Squash has set an example of how professional organisations and leagues can work hand-in-hand with an International Federation to use the Code as the basis for the fight against doping in sport. It is an example we at WADA would encourage all professional organisations and leagues around the world to follow." The Squash Federation of Africa (SFA) was formed in August 1992, covering the African continent and the Indian Ocean islands. Founder members were Egypt, Kenya, Namibia, Nigeria, South Africa, Zambia and Zimbabwe. Since then a further 13 African nations have joined. The first President was Egyptian Mahmoud Barakat.

The strength of member Egypt can be seen by that nation in 2012 achieving an historic milestone in holding all four World Team titles for the first time, while the enduring strength of World Federation Founder member South Africa's squash can be seen from their hosting six World Championships, including three Masters events. Namibia, have also been World event hosts, the 2014 World Juniors. World Squash Federation

It was 1992 when the Oceania Squash Federation (OSF) was formed and began coordinating events in the region, including introducing Oceania Championships. Founder members were Cook Islands, Fiji, New Caledonia, Papua New Guinea and Samoa, along with Australia and New Zealand. Vanuatu joined in 2010 and Tahiti in 2014.

Eligibility for the Oceania Squash Championships is restricted to member countries and players eligible to compete in the (South) Pacific Games & (South) Pacific Mini Games, e.g. Cook Islands, Fiji, New Caledonia, PNG and Samoa; so Australia & New Zealand do not participate.

The first OSF President was Murray Day (NZL) (below), who had been 2nd World Federation President (1975 – 1981). World Squash Federation

When the Federation was formed in 1967 it had a Chairman, Vice Chairman, Honorary Treasurer, Executive Secretary and a 5th officer (a representative of a member nation).

In 1987 a motion was passed changing from this to President and 2 Vice Presidents* + Secretary / Treasurer. Following this, in 1991, the number of VPs was expanded to three*. Two years later the Secretary / Treasurer position was dropped. (*Both genders required)

The number of VPs increased from 3 to 4 at the WSF AGM in 2016.

At the WSF AGM yesterday, a motion to increase the number of its VPs from four to five was not passed, so 4 VPs is unaltered. World Squash Federation

When Jahangir Khan became President of the World Squash Federation in 2002 at the Kuala Lumpur AGM, the Pakistani 'legend' became the first and to date only professional player to take the role. The 6 times World Open and 10 times British Open Champion became a WSF Vice-President in 1998. He served the maximum two terms before stepping down in 2008 to become and remain WSF Emeritus President. (Five times Australian World Champion Sarah Fitz-Gerald is a current WSF Vice-President). Today marks Lorraine Harding's last day as WSF Operations Manager. She first joined the Federation in January 1997, and since then has been the highly respected heartbeat of the organisation, managing for four Presidents and their Boards. I can say this having benefitted from her wonderful talent and support having been a colleague, and I am sure the whole sport thanks her for her service and wishes her a long and happy retirement. At the ISRF (now WSF) AGM in Cairo in 1985, Canadian Ian Stewart stepped down as Chairman (the title is now President) after a 4 year term, as did his two fellow Canadian officers.

Plaques were presented to him by incoming Chairman Ronnie Sinclair (Scotland) & Australia (this pic) to mark the occasion. Since then the constitution has been amended a few times to ensure a wider international representation and increase the number of board members.

In 1986 the ISRF (now WSF) and ISPA (now PSA) jointly formed the MISTC (Men's International Squash Tournament Council). It had four primary aims:

1. To develop and co-ordinate the Men's World Calendar
2. To plan and develop a World Grand Prix Circuit for men's squash
3. To issue regular Grand Prix bonus points / latest status reports
4. To arrange contracts with Men's Grand Prix sponsors.

While the Circuit was formed with points published, the search for Grand Prix partners / sponsors didn't succeed, and by 1989 the partnership was disbanded.

In February 1986 the International Olympic Committee (IOC) granted official recognition to the ISRF (now WSF) – thus admitting squash into the Olympic movement. At that point the hope was that squash could try to become a demonstration sport for the Olympic Games in 1992 (Barcelona).

This was not possible for Barcelona, nor Atlanta 1996 or, most disappointingly, Sydney 2000, after which the demonstration sport option was discontinued by IOC. World Squash Federation

The inaugural AGM of the ISRF (International Squash Rackets Federation, now WSF), took place in London on 5 January 1967. The sport of squash had been led by the British Squash Association from its' formation in 1928 until this point.

The seven nations represented were Australia, United Arab Republic (Egypt), Great Britain, India, New Zealand, Pakistan & South Africa.

Englishman Peter Phillips (pic) became the first Chairman – neatly linking the start of ISRF with the beginning of the sport at Harrow school where he was educated! Amongst other items initially dealt with, a constitution was agreed, the Rules in force were adopted, and an initial annual subscription of GB£100 decided.

Arrangements were also made to initiate and manage World Championships.

The issue of USA not being able to join due to not subscribing to one of the main objects of the Federation – upholding the Rules of Squash – due to the variation primarily played there, was overcome by inviting USA & Canada to become Associate members. This was soon upgraded and involvement / championship participation became possible. World Squash Federation

In March 1974 international male players decided to form a player association. Unhappy with the seedings produced for the Prodrorite Open in Birmingham along with other issues, the players met at the event and International Squash Players Professional Association (ISPPA) was born. The 'professional' was almost immediately dropped when a constitution followed, and the name became ISPA until changing to PSA in 1993. Australian Ken Hisco (pic), who had withdrawn from the Prodrorite in protest at the seedings, was appointed President, Jonah Barrington became Chairman and Geoff Hunt Vice President.

To be eligible for membership, players would need to have played in three open tournaments in the preceding 12 months.

When New Zealander Susie Simcock was elected as WSF President at the World Federation AGM in on 12 Oct 1996 at Subang Jaya in Malaysia, she became the first (and so far only) female WSF President.

Commenting on winning the election as a women she said at the time 'It shows that ours is a progressive sport. In many sports this could not happen'.

She went on to very successfully serve three two year terms, the maximum allowable at that time. Pictured here with her successor Jahangir Khan. World Squash Federation Squash New Zealand Susie Simcock
