

LIBRARY DAILY POSTING INDEX: OBITUARIES

| Year | Month | Day | (features, bold) | 2023 | Jan | 21 | Tetsuya Kobayashi (Japan) |
|------|-------|-----|---|------|------|----|---|
| 2020 | Mar | 28 | Azam Khan (PAK, past Champion) | 2023 | Jan | 30 | Haridas Nair (Singapore) |
| 2020 | May | 30 | Susie Simcock (NZL, former WSF Pres) | 2023 | May | 13 | Jade Wilson (25 years) |
| 2020 | Aug | 26 | Stuart Hailstone (RSA, player) | 2023 | June | 16 | Mark Cowley (World 055 champ) |
| 2020 | Nov | 16 | Jade Wilson (NZL, suicide 1998) | 2023 | July | 29 | Ahmed Safwat (Egypt) |
| 2021 | Jan | 15 | Hany Hamouda (EGY, African Fed President) | 2023 | Aug | 01 | John Horry (SRA/ISRF sec) |
| 2021 | Mar | 19 | Dick Hawkey (ENG, author 1991) | 2023 | Aug | 16 | Geoff Kingscote, NZ squash 'father' |
| 2021 | Apr | 09 | HRH Duke of Edinburgh | 2023 | Oct | 06 | Ibrahim Amin (Egypt) |
| 2021 | May | 12 | Sergio Rodriguez (Pan-America) 2011 | 2023 | Oct | 23 | Malcolm Gilham (Masters winner) |
| 2021 | May | 24 | John Le Lievre | 2024 | Apr | 01 | Lionel Robberds (Australia) |
| 2021 | June | 20 | Dicky Rutnagur (journalist) | 2024 | Apr | 15 | Lenny Bernheimer (USA) |
| 2021 | Aug | 18 | Hashim Khan (PAK, past Champion) | 2024 | July | 24 | Trevor Johnston (NZL) |
| 2021 | Sept | 01 | Philip Van Der Ven (ESF Pres & WSF VP) | 2024 | Nov | 06 | Gamal Awad (20 years) |
| 2021 | Sept | 27 | Torsam Khan (PAK, born 70 years ago) | 2024 | Nov | 19 | 'Monty' Cumberbatch (Barbados) |
| 2021 | Nov | 29 | Fran Marshall (British Open winner 1961) | 2025 | Jan | 14 | Lars Kvant (Sweden) x 2 |
| 2021 | Dec | 03 | Kevin Shawcross (World Amateur Cham 76) | 2025 | Feb | 27 | Abdul Bari (India, 1953) |
| 2022 | Jan | 20 | Paul Vear (administrator, Australia) | 2025 | Mar | 10 | Aftab Jawaid (Pakistan) |
| 2022 | Mar | 16 | Eleonora Sears (USA) | 2025 | Aug | 08 | James Barrington (player / sponsor) |
| 2022 | Mar | 23 | Murray Day (former WSF President) | 2025 | Aug | 19 | Volker Bernardi (Germany/International) |
| 2022 | June | 20 | Abdul Bari | 2025 | Sept | 09 | Liz Addison, Pan African administrator |
| 2022 | Aug | 10 | Dick Carter (Australia) | 2025 | Oct | 01 | Dardir El Bakary (Egypt, coach) |
| 2022 | Oct | 26 | Jack Herrick (USA) | 2025 | Oct | 21 | John Beddington (Promoter, author) |
| 2022 | Nov | 01 | Clive Francis (ENG) | 2026 | Jan | 07 | David Quail, South Africa |
| 2022 | Nov | 17 | Rex Bellamy (journalist) | 2026 | Jan | 10 | John Easter, England international |
| 2022 | Dec | 02 | Dr Assem Allam (Sponsor) | | | | |

Updated to 31 January 2026

2026

 Squash Library
10 January at 07:52 ·

Ten years ago this month John Easter died aged 70. A tall, naturally gifted player, Easter got his squash blues for Oxford in 1966 and 1967. Between 1971 and 1983, he played 31 times for Great Britain and England, turning professional in the 1973-74 season after leading Great Britain to second place at the World Championships in South Africa.

 Squash Library
7 January at 07:29 ·

Very sadly, David Quail, an important figure in South African squash, died yesterday. He played top level squash from 1965, including competing in the World Amateur, then followed up by becoming national coach for his country in 1974, international team manager for World Championships and Test Matches as well as vice chairman of the South African Squash Association. RIP. Squash South Africa

David Quail

2025

Squash Library
21 October at 10:21 ·

It is very sad to report of the passing of John Beddington who has died aged 83, succumbing to cancer. Beddington was a key figure in world tennis over many decades, promoting a number of international events, while in squash he developed the PIA World Series of Squash (<https://www.squashlibrary.info/.../pia-world-series-1977...>), and later when the British Open was struggling for sponsorship in 2003 he joined forces with John Nimick to rescue it. He also published a squash coaching book. While there was the steel needed to promote and manage major events, Beddington was the quintessential courteous Brit, and had a twinkle in his eye that was a glimpse into his fun side. His understated role in squash will be greatly missed. He is survived by his wife, Roseann and two sons, David Paul and James.

Squash Library
9 September at 07:31 ·

It is with great sadness that Squash Library reports that Liz Addison passed away yesterday, not having recovered from a serious stroke a couple of years ago. After coaching and assisting at events for a number of years, in 1993 Liz Addison started with Squash South Africa, only retiring 28 years later in 2021. In addition, she, arguably the most experienced administrator on Africa, also took on the role of Secretary General for the African Squash Federation as the nations wanted her talents too! To her coaching and event background (including acting as Technical Delegate many times), grass root development always featured highly in areas that she would promote and encourage. Knowledgeable, experienced, patient and immensely popular too, she was the go-to person to manage any requirements in her country and continent. May she rest in peace, leaving behind her personality and a real legacy. SSquash South AfricaSquash Federation of Africa SFAWorld Squash Federation

Squash Library
1 October at 07:43 ·

Ten years ago in October 2015, Dardir El Bakary passed away. The Egyptian was a top-line player who was a winner of the Egyptian Open and their professional championship who became one of the most influential coaches worldwide in his lifetime. Starting with Egyptian stars such as Abou Taleb, he was soon asked by Australians Ken Hiscoe and Heather McKay to help them too. He had settled in Australia with his Australian wife Helen following time in UK, but after that marriage ended and he wed Sherryn, a Kiwi, and moved to near Auckland. There he became national coach and spearheaded the development of coaching and players there. His association with Bruce Brownlee and later Ross Norman were pivotal to them.

Noted for being diminutive and with an engaging sparkle in his eye his legacy remains. (Photo with Jonah Barrington in 1988 from page 161 of <https://www.squashlibrary.info/squash-a-celebration>).

Egyptian Squash Federation - الاتحاد المصري للسلكواش - Squash New Zealand Poipātū Aotearoa Squash Australia England Squash

Squash Library
19 August at 07:51 ·

Squash and other sports have lost a leader; saddened to hear of the death of Volker Bernardi aged only 56. Squash benefited from Bernardi serving on WSF Commissions as well as holding the role of Secretary General for the German Squash Federation. He was also a member of International World Games Association Executive Committee and the Executive Director of World Flying Disc Federation during a two decade involvement with sport administration by the German. RIP World Squash Federation The World Games

It is very sad to report that James Barrington, a highly ranked junior and Masters player has passed away aged 65. The tall, genial Englishman was taken by cancer. Barrington (unrelated to Jonah) is very well known to international players worldwide as it was he who developed the Cathay Pacific sponsorship of the Hong Kong Open while working for the airline. It was an association with the event that began in 1985 and only ended in 2017 after 33 years. His passing is not just a terrible blow for his family and friends, but the sport of squash that he loved, and all those involved who thought so much of him too. Cathay Pacific PSA Squash Tour

Squash Library is saddened to report that Pakistani champion Aftab Jawaid has died in his adopted Manchester yesterday, aged 87. The tall elegant player won the British Amateur three times (1964-66) – the first Pakistani to take the title – as well as being losing finalist in three British Opens. He then settled in the north west of England, and became a well-loved coach. Pakistan Squash Federation England Squash British Open Squash - from SquashSite

70 years ago today (27 February 1955) a benefit match was held for the widow of Abdul Bari, runner up in the British Open 1950, who had died in 1954 at the age of 33 of a brain haemorrhage. The top players of the time rallied round for the family of the Indian player, a distant relative of Roshan and Nasrullah Khan. Here, <https://www.squashlibrary.info/general-resources>, on the Library website is the programme featuring background on Bari and other player details. Pakistan Squash Federation Indian Squash Rackets Federation India

THE SQUASH RACKETS ASSOCIATION AND
THE PROFESSIONALS COMMITTEE

have arranged this
BENEFIT MATCH FOR MRS. ABDUL BARI
on
THE BRUCE COURT, LANSDOWNE CLUB,
BERKELEY SQUARE, LONDON, W.1
on
SUNDAY, FEBRUARY the 27th, 1955, at 2.30 p.m.

ABDUL BARI

ORDER OF PLAY

| Overseas Team | v. | British Team |
|----------------|----|----------------------------|
| 3. Azam Khan | v. | A. A. T. Seymour-Haydon |
| 2. Roshan Khan | v. | J. H. Giles |
| 1. Hashim Khan | v. | R. B. R. Wilson |
| 5. Saifullah | v. | N. E. Borrett |
| 4. Jamal Din | v. | I. C. de Sales la Terriere |

PRICE: 1s.

Following on from the extremely sad news of Lars Kvant passing earlier today, here is another visual reminder of the vibrant Swede – featuring on this cover in June 1981 to acknowledge him becoming the first continental European to enter the World top 25 rankings. European Squash Federation PSA Squash Tour

It is with great sadness that the Library reports that Swedish squash star Lars Kvant passed away today aged 69. He had been suffering from Parkinsons disease. Lars Kvant had a sparkling personality on and off court, with a real sense of fun. On court he reached a ranking high of 12 in the world, and wins included beating Geoff Hunt in the ISPA Championship 1982. The Malmo man also led his nation to European Team Championship titles in 1980 and 1983 to break the English stranglehold. Thoughts are with his brother Jan and his family.

European Squash FederationPSA Squash Tour

20 years ago today (6 Nov 2004) Egyptian player Gamal Awad died aged 49. From Alexandria, the 'rubber man' or 'grasshopper' was aptly described, summing up his extraordinary athleticism. Born 9 August 1955, Awad experienced early success, he won the Egyptian Under 13 title in 1968, and later crowned his amateur career by winning the British Amateur twice in 1978 and 79, beating Pakistanis Magsood Ahmed and Atlas Khan (pic with trophy).

Turning pro, he came close to major titles but Geoff Hunt and the Jahangir Khan blocked him – including Hunt winning their British Open 1981 semi-final (where he was comforted by Abbas Kaoud - pic).

Famously, he tried to outlast Jahangir Khan in the 2 hour 46 minute four game Chichester Festival final in 1983, a match that he never really came back from.

An open, simple spirit, he did lose his way a little after retiring; coaching in England, Belgium, Greece and finally Alexandria, before being taken too young by a heart attack. Poignantly, he passed away on the day that Amr Shabana became the first Egyptian to reach a British Open final since he had done so in 1983. Egyptian Squash Federation - الاتحاد المصري للسلكواش

PSA Squash Tour

2024

The Library was saddened to hear of the passing of William 'Monty' Cumberbatch, aged 70 two days ago.

Monty was well known both in Barbados but across the Caribbean and beyond. He managed Barbados teams in the region and indeed the Commonwealth Games most recently in 2022. Always affable and with a light touch.

His family has been a Barbados dynasty. All four of his sons (Gavin, Rhett, Khamal and Bryant) played for both the national junior and senior squash teams on multiple occasions. Three of them were national squash champions at some point, and all four won multiple CASA (Caribbean Area) junior age group titles over the past three decades.

Monty was a well-respected statesman and administrator in both Barbados and Caribbean squash, and his passing has left a huge void right across the region. He was beloved by many. With condolences to his family, RIP Monty.

Barbados Squash ClubFederacion Panamericana de Squash

It is sad to report that New Zealander Trevor Johnston has passed away aged 82. The member of the Kiwi Hall of Fame was a NZ number one who reached the quarter finals of the World Amateur in 1969 (beaten by Jonah Barrington), and was the first male from the country to make a squash impression internationally. Squash New Zealand Poipātū Aotearoa

2023

Squash Library

16 August at 0823 -

Geoff Kingscote had a full life, which included being termed the father of New Zealand Squash. English born in 1888, he served in the first World War, and had been a regular player at the Bath Club in London before traveling to New Zealand to work and becoming their first national champion at Christchurch Club in 1932. He did so having been credited with introducing the drop shot to the country! A businessman, he found time to be the French Consular-General in Christchurch from 1934 and to command troops in the second world war. Oh, and in 1939 to become the first NZ SRA President! Photo courtesy Joseph Romanos from The Story of New Zealand Squash. Squash New Zealand Poipātū Aotearoa

Squash Library

1 August -

30 years ago in 1993, the 'Mr Squash' of his era died aged 87. Englishman John Horry MBE became the first full time CEO (then called Secretary) of the British SRA in 1955 when it was the unofficial world body, then doubled up as the first Secretary of the fledgling world body itself (ISRF) when it began in 1967. He held the ISRF position until he retired in 1975, having stepped down from the SRA three years earlier.

Managing all the duties on his own, he did take on assistants who would do a little work while being given the opportunity to train. Jonah Barrington was one, Tony Swift and Mike Corby amongst others too.

Only a modest player himself, his organisational skills and attention to detail enabled him to ensure that the management of what became a growing sport was in good hands. Irascible at times, but with a drive and a generosity of spirit, John Horry was not only known by all, but respected by all too.

World Squash FederationEngland Squash

Squash Library

29 July at 08:29 -

Ahmed Safwat would have been 76 years old today, but 20 years ago today he died aged aged 56. The Egyptian professional had not realised that he had an enlarged heart, and died of heart failure. Jonah Barrington summed him up so well, saying, 'He was a lovely man, a natural gentleman who was great to play – there was hardly ever a let. Everybody warmed to him, adults and youngsters alike.' Reaching a career high ranking of seven in 1977, he continued playing Masters squash winning the British Open Over 35, and World Masters Over 40 and 50 titles. Egyptian Squash Federation - الاتحاد المصري للسلكواش

Squash Library

16 June at 23:05 -

Mark Cowley, World Over 55 champion 2010, sadly died today (16 June), aged 68. The England senior international was hospitalised for several months having caught Covid at the start of the pandemic. Only narrowly surviving, being as tough in the fight as he was on court, his slow recovery was hampered by complications that finally caused his death.

25 years ago today 1995 World Junior Champion Jade Wilson took her own life. The prodigiously talented New Zealander was aged only 21, the first New Zealander to win the World Junior. Even though her career was so short she was later inducted into the New Zealand Squash Hall of Fame. Sadly gone, but certainly not forgotten. Squash New ZealandWorld Squash Federation

Mr Tetsuya Kobayashi from Japan has passed away, aged 85. A genial businessman who became attracted to squash when seeing it, he was instrumental in supporting the development and profile of squash in Japan in the 1990s through his JSM (Japan Squash Merchandising Company). Not only did he build the Cote-A-Cote Squash Club in Yokohama, but constructed JSM glass and movable wall courts too. During the period 1993 – 1995 period his Men's and Women's JSM SuperSquash events set the record for the largest Tour prize money at the time. He also supported the Women's Tour with WISPA sponsorship (he is seen here with Michelle Martin, 1993 & 94 winner). His death comes just before son Masaya opens a new three court club – all four-sided glass – in Kyushu this month. Japan Squash Association

Squash Library reports the death of Haridas Nair, aged 86. Hari, a quietly effective, tireless and genial administrator managed the Singapore Squash Association from 1980 to 1997 having been a teacher; and from 1986 to 1997 doubled up as Executive Director of the Asian Squash Federation. (Pic 2019). Singapore Squash

2022

Richard 'Dick' Carter, a member of the Australian team which won the first three World Team Championships (1967, 69 and 71) has sadly passed away, aged 83. Carter was also runner up to Aftab Jawaid & Jonah Barrington in the British Amateur in Jan 1966 & 67. Pic: (L to R) Cam Nancarrow, Carter, Geoff Hunt & Ken Hiscoe with the 1967 World Team Trophy. Squash Australia

Abdul Bari, a distant relative of the 'Khan Dynasty' had been British Open runner up in 1950 when beaten by Mahmoud Karim.

Two years later he became the first Pakistani to become a professional coach in England when he was appointed by the Junior Carlton Club in London in 1952. But two years later on 9 December 1954 he died from a brain haemorrhage aged only 33.

Almost immediately a memorial match was arranged to raise funds for his wife and two year daughter.

Played on the Bruce Court at the Lansdowne Club in London, led by his family, all the Pakistani pros in UK came together to play a selected English team; the outcome being a comfortable win for the Pakistani pros, on a night when the result didn't matter.

Hashim Khan bt Roy Wilson 9-6, 9-4, 7-9, 9-1. Roshan Khan bt Jack Giles 9-2, 9-6, 7-9, 9-1. Azam Khan bt Alan Seymour-Haydon 9-5, 9-2, 9-4. Jamal Din bt Ian de Sales la Terriere 9-5, 3-9, 9-1, 9-0. Safirullah Khan bt Norman Borrett 9-5, 9-2, 9-4.

(Pic, L to R: Hashim Khan, Abdul Bari, Nasrullah Khan, Roshan Khan, Azam Khan)

New Zealander Murray Day, the second President of the WSF (then called ISRF) passed away at the age of 90 (18 March) in Waikato, NZL. Day took the helm of ISRF in 1975 when the head role was called Chairman, and such was his success in moving the body forward, the member nations voted to extend the maximum period in position from four to six years, so allowing him to serve until 1981.

He spearheaded the break from the sports' administration being UK-centric, streamlined communication, and modernised the sport.

Day presided over the game going 'open' (http://www.squashlibrary.info/.../squash-abolishes...\), and started the process of amalgamating the management of men's and women's international bodies.

Genial and popular, the accountant maintained his enthusiasm for and interest in the development of squash throughout his life, and was married to Ann for 67 years. Squash New ZealandWorld Squash Federation

On this day 54 years ago (16.03.68) Eleonora Sears died. She had become the first US Women's squash champion, at the age of 46 in 1928. She did so having been involved in the formation of the United States Women's Squash Racquets Association that year. She also captained early Wolfe Noel international matches (www.squashlibrary.info/post/wolfe-noel-challenge-cup) in its early years.

Thought to be one of the greatest all-round sportswomen of her era, her achievements included being inducted into the US Tennis Hall of Fame. US SQUASH

Squash Library is very saddened to hear of the death of Paul Year, the incomparable administrator and promoter from Australia for over 50 years.

It was he who masterminded the bringing of the World Men's & Women's Opens, Men's Team and Masters Championships to Melbourne in 2001, as well as being involved in the delivery of a number of other events including the Commonwealth Games in 2006, World Deaf and Australian Opens.

He was also a leading light in the promotion of Racketb... See more

2021

Squash Library

3 December at 08:39 ·

On this day 34 years ago Australian Kevin Shawcross, World Amateur Champion in 1976, passed away at the age of 38. Born 3.12.1948, he had won the British Amateur title before turning professional, and the New Zealand Open in 1981 afterwards. Huge in talent, large in frame and also as a character; he died from a heart attack back home in Lithgow, NSW, leaving a mass of memories and stories about the player affectionately known as 'Herman'.

Squash Library

29 November at 08:55 ·

1961 Women's British Open champion Fran Marshall passed away aged 81 ten years ago. She was famous for being the last person to beat Heather McKay before the Australian went on an unbeaten streak in the sport that lasted an incredible sixteen years. The win was a 3/2 victory in the Scottish Open final 1962 which took an hour and a half to secure.

Marshall was also runner-up in the British Open five times and English number one for over ten years.

She had been raised in Kenya before returning to Yorkshire and, after her competitive retirement, coached before moving to Spain in 1983.

England SquashBritish Open Squash

Squash Library

27 September at 08:41 ·

On this day 70 years ago (27.09.1951), Torsam Khan was born. Torsam, son of 1957 British Open winner Roshan Khan and brother of ten times British Open winner Jahangir Khan, tragically collapsed and died on died of heart failure on court playing the Australian Open in Adelaide on 28 November 1979. The Rawalpindi born Pakistani was aged just 28.

Ranked 13 in the world at the time the engaging and popular player had already made his mark as a leader, having become President of ISPA (now PSA) nine months earlier.

(Torsam Khan seen here, foreground, playing Qamar Zaman in the 1978 British Open) Pakistan Squash Federation

Squash Library

1 September at 14:11 ·

Philip Van Der Ven, President of the European Squash Federation (1999 – 2001) and Vice President of World Squash Federation (1992 – 1996) has passed away, aged 75. The Dutchman (20.09.1945 – 22.08.2021), suffered ill health in recent years, and leaves his wife Patricia, children and grandchildren. World Squash FederationThe European Squash FederationSquash Bond Nederland

Squash Library

20 June at 08:18 ·

Eight years ago today (20 June 2013) Dicky Rutnagur, the highly-respected Indian-born British-based journalist who covered squash, badminton and cricket for the Daily Telegraph died in London aged 82. He also authored, Khans Unlimited – A history of Squash in Pakistan.

In an era before the reporting world changed with the advent of internet, Dicky Rutnagur was already a doyen of the craft. His encyclopaedic knowledge of squash players and championships, his direct and accurate mode of reportage – whether it be squash or his other love cricket – along with his wicked sense of humour, led Dicky to be held in the highest esteem by players, promoters and his publications alike.

Squash Library

18 August at 08:53 ·

Hashim Khan, a father figure of modern squash, died on this day (18 Aug) in 2014, just after what was believed to be his 100th birthday. Born near Peshawar in Pakistan (possibly on 1 July 1914, but he never had a birth certificate), Khan led his country's pre-eminent status in the sport in the 20th century. In the 1950s he won a then record seven British Open titles – his first in 1951 at an age when most players have long retired. He moved to the USA in the 1960s and died at his Colorado home. He had been based at the Denver Athletic Club and was still giving advice from the gallery after finally hanging up his rackets aged 93.

Three phases of Hashim Khan's life (Middle: playing in the final of the British Open Vintage Over 65 in 1985). Pakistan Squash Federation

Later photos: Steve Line

Squash Library

24 May at 10:58 ·

England international John Le Lievre (born 9 June 1956) died yesterday (23 May 2021) after lengthy suffering from Lewy Body Dementia disease.

John was born on the island of Guernsey and represented England at both junior & senior level, winning 16 senior caps between 1977 – 1982.

Based in Nottingham, on court he will be remembered as a precise player who operated at very much his own pace, frustrating opponents, who reached 24 in the world. While off court he was genial, endearing and immensely popular.

The phrase 'nobody had a bad word to say about him' was so true of John Le Lievre.

He was Chairman of ISPA (former name of PSA) in 1983.

Squash - PSA World Tour

Squash Library

12 May at 09:03 ·

Ten years ago this month squash lost Sergio Rodriguez Jaramillo, Founder and President of the Pan-American Squash Federation (FPS). He was aged 52 when he was killed in Medellin, Colombia.

Rodriguez was a member of the Executive of the Colombian Olympic Committee - and later became Treasurer. His work both in the Olympic movement and in Squash made him an internationally respected sports leader. In lamenting the loss of Rodriguez, then WSF President N Ramachandran said: "The untimely death of Sergio Rodriguez is a great shock and a terrible tragedy. First and foremost for his loved ones, but squash and sport in general has lost a great friend whose contribution has been enduring. He will be greatly missed." Federacion Panamericana de Squash

Squash Library

9 April at 13:41 ·

The sad news of the passing of HRH The Duke of Edinburgh today, reminds of the recent Library feature on his support & involvement in squash, which he played. It is at <https://www.squashlibrary.info/.../h-r-h-prince-philip...>

SQUASHLIBRARY.INFO

H.R.H Prince Philip was President of the British Squash Rackets Association

Squash Library

19 March at 08:44 ·

Thirty years ago today (19.03.91), the most prolific author of squash books died aged 67. Richard (Dick) Hawkey wrote over a dozen playing, coaching and refereeing books, along with booklets and magazine articles during the 1960's and 70s, with later updating. He was a British squash international then later a school teacher.

Squash Library

15 January at 17:55 ·

Squash Library has learned with great sadness of the passing of Hany Hamouda today, from Covid. Hany was a leader of squash in Alexandria, Egypt nationally as was President of the African Federation too. But more than this a lovely, kind man. Hany, who I first met in 1980 is a huge loss to our world. RIP, Andrew World Squash Federation
Egyptian Squash Federation - الاتحاد المصري للsquash

2020

Squash Library

16 November at 08:40 ·

The world of squash lost a great talent tragically early when seemingly sparkling New Zealander Jade Wilson took her own life aged just 21 in May 1998. Wilson, won the World Junior title in 1995 in Sydney, Australia, had already reached the Women's World Top 20, and had been selected for the 1998 Commonwealth Games. In 2013, Squash New Zealand recognised her achievements and burgeoning talent and inducted her into the New Zealand Squash Hall of Fame. Squash New Zealand

Squash Library
26 August -

The Library has been saddened to hear that Stuart Hailstone (DofB: 12.04.1962) has died due to a stroke sustained in hospital while recovering from sepsis.

Stuart was born in South Africa, raised in Zimbabwe, and was England based during his squash career, reaching a World ranking high of 14 (August 1987).

Following the end of apartheid he represented South Africa in the Men's World Team Championship 1993. RIP.

Squash Library
28 March -

Squash has lost a great champion to Coronavirus, with the announcement of the death of Azam Khan in London today, aged 95.

Azam, younger brother of Hashim Khan, won four consecutive British Open titles (1959-62) as well as being runner up to Hashim in three earlier finals, after travelling to UK from Pakistan in December 1952.

A true great who had his on-court career cut short by an Achilles tendon injury, and a real gentleman off the court.

In 2008 at the World Championships, Hashim and Azam (right) received Lifetime Achievement Awards, and they are pictured together, (Azam, left) during their period of dominance.

Squash Library sends condolences to his family on his passing, a great loss for squash too.

Squash Library
30 May -

The Library is very saddened by the news that Susie Simcock, past President of WSF, has passed away aged 82. The New Zealander, universally regarded as a 'very special person' had a formidably fulfilling life. A Library appreciation is here

www.squashlibrary.info/post/susie-simcock World Squash Federation

