On this day (6 November) in 1989 YAM Tunku Imran was elected as the 5th World Federation President since its inception in 1967. The AGM took place in his home country of Malaysia. Imran was the first national champion of Malaysia in 1973, and served the maximum two presidential terms before becoming Patron of the Federation.

He has also served as an IOC member and Commonwealth Games Federation President, always promoting squash in his genial but forceful way; and was instrumental in squash securing a first slot on the Commonwealth Games programme as well as pushing squash's efforts towards the Olympic Games place.

On this day in 1982, eight years after its start, a number of members of ISPA (now PSA) agitated for their organisation to appoint a manager and administrator. Signatories of the letter, which you can view here on the Library website: <https://www.squashlibrary.info/general-resources>, included Ali Aziz, Ahmed Saifwat, Magdi Saad, Rod George and Chris Caird. Until that point the single administrative position was called secretary (held by Geoff Poole). PSA Squash Tour

After discussions that had started at the beginning of 2014, on 18 December 2014 PSA announced that they and the Women's (WISPA, then WSA) Tour would merge from January 2015 so that the professional ranks of squash would be administered by one unified governing body.

Continuing to operate under the existing PSA name, the re-formed organisation was to be responsible for running the men's and women's professional game with the strategic aims of increasing the level of equality and parity in prize money and playing opportunities across the sport. In 1987 (when the men's PSA was ISPA, and WSF was ISRF), Roger Eady was the Executive Director for both. ISRF AGM motions from England & Germany suggested that the ISRF should be managed by a person with no other roles i.e. he shouldn't share the role. Another German motion wanted ISRF to manage a pro-circuit with its own rankings. All were withdrawn, but soon after Eady did choose one and went with ISPA.

Hong Kong Squash became the first National Sports Association to receive "Directors of The Year Awards" in the categories of Statutory / Non-profit-distributing Organizations by The Hong Kong Institute of Directors in 2017. The award recognised achievement in demonstrating the high standards in corporate governance. @hong kong squash

Chairman Mr. David Mui (pictured left) and the Association's General Committee, were commended by the panel of judges saying, "The Board of Hong Kong Squash has established sound principles and procedures in terms of corporate governance, with policies on risk management, financial controls, internal controls, compliance and reporting in place. Its supervision and evaluation of strategic plans developed by the management team contribute to the continual success of the organization. The Board totally deserves the Award."

The World Squash Federation What it is and what it does

WSF MISSION
World Governing Body for Squash the WSF's mission is to keep the growing and maintain its quality and reputation as one of the most fun and enjoyable participant and spectator sports in the world.

WSF AND THE WORLD SQUASH FEDERATION
Sport of Squash was first played over 100 years ago and is now played in over 130 nations. The International Squash Rackets Federation was formed in 1967 to promote and develop the sport, this being changed in 1992 to the World Squash Federation (WSF). WSF is recognised by the International Olympic Committee (IOC) as International Federation for Squash. It is a member of the General Association of International Sports Federations (GAISF) and the Union of IOC Recognised International Sports Federations. The President of which is a WSF Vice-President.

MEMBERSHIP OF THE WSF
WSF has 105 Members, all of which are National Associations of Squash, recognised by their National Olympic Association or Ministry of Sport. Member nations are required to be in membership of one of the Regional Squash Federations, which are an integral part of the structure.

GOVERNMENT OF THE WSF
WSF is controlled by a Management Committee responsible for the day to day work of the Federation. The Committee is elected by Member nations and consists of a President and three Vice-Presidents, who serve two year terms of office. An Executive Committee, using a Management Committee plus one Regional Vice-President appointed by each of the five Regional Federations, assists the day to day running process. The WSF website is www.squashlibrary.info/general-resources

WORLD SQUASH CALENDAR
The Federation works closely with the two player associations, the Professional Squash Association and the Women's Squash Players Association, to coordinate the world Squash. World Circuit events are held in all major nations and are integrated with the World Championships to ensure that there are no clashes of dates.

WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPS
The WSF is responsible for organising and promoting Championships for men, women, boys, girls and masters, at both team level and in singles and doubles. World Team Championships for each type are held every two years, with Individual Championships for Senior Men and Women also. Championships are hosted by WSF member nations, events four years in advance.

COACHING
The WSF is responsible for coordinating the programme of training and accreditation by member nations and composition of qualifications. The Federation appoints Consultant Coaches whose prime role is to undertake projects within member associations.

DEVELOPMENT
One of the most important of all the functions undertaken by the WSF is the development of Squash, not only in countries where it is already established. Advice on all matters is given to member nations and implementation specialists recommended by the WSF.

WPSA/ISPA Merger Update

Extensive discussions between the WPSA and the International Squash Players Association (ISPA) continue to move the professional players' association closer to a merger.

The result of WPSA Executive Director Roger Eady's recent day trip to London and Cardiff, Wales, home of the ISPA, was the first draft constitution for an integrated world tour.

Opposed to the situation by the WPSA Board of Directors, the proposed new constitution, an amalgamation of the WPSA By-laws and the current ISPA Constitution, and a proposed binding Letter of Agreement are the next steps to be taken by the WPSA. The working day of the new global constitution is the day the new constitution is in the Professional Squash Association (PSA).

Although the working title and several key financial points are not completely settled, the WPSA Board has made a decision on the majority of merger issues. As PSA Executive Director Roger Eady points out, "We are very eager to effect this merger. We see a great deal of enormous growth potential for professional and recreational squash. The WPSA has proven its expertise in running tournaments, events, and competitions and in organizing and standardizing Teaching Pros. Now that soft ball is gaining in popularity so rapidly in the United States, the education and services of the WPSA and its resources can only be a significant gain for the world game."

The creation of the hand ball game is an obvious issue in the merger discussions. Agreement has already been reached by the two associations to include hand ball doubles and singles rankings in the published "world" rankings. In addition, all hand ball qualifying spots in all tournaments will be open to professional players. Particularly in doubles, crossover will be encouraged and expected.

The present WPSA constitution continues to be dedicated to a two-year political and financial moratorium preserving significant WPSA decision-making powers. The WPSA's right to determine its voting rights will remain primary authority over the internal business and policies of the North American division until January 31, 1994. At that time, the World Board will have the authority over all aspects of PSA business.

The World Board will be composed of the 12 PSA members and representatives, voted on by all PSA members worldwide, the PSA Executive Director, currently Roger Eady, and two (2) North American members appointed by the WPSA from within the North American Advisory Board.

The current plan is to proceed on the merger, subject to a July 12 WPSA Board meeting, to resolve the PSA Constitution and Letter of Agreement, and an August 1 Annual General Meeting for World Board ratification. The AGM is tentatively scheduled for 3:30 p.m. on the Friday at the Loews New York Hotel in New York City. The motions for committee members and the Executive Board to take place at that time.

It is necessary for the WPSA have 12 members in attendance at the AGM to effect a voting quorum. The Association is planning a full day of study and discussion around the August 7 AGM. Tentatively, golf and tennis are being planned for the Apawamus Club in the morning and a cocktail/dinner party will be held at the same location after the meeting. (Quick, someone call Rick Westhead.) The WPSA is planning to have a "merger" party on Saturday, with details to follow. Hopefully this day will be enjoyable and memorable.

Comments continue to come in from Bob Hilt, Steve Bovis, the Board, Jim Nitsch, Steve Magie and all others involved. We look forward to seeing as many of you as possible on August 7 for the confirmation of these plans.

World Squash Library has published the full set of fifty AGM minutes of the World Squash Federation, from its formation in 1967 until now. It can be found at <https://www.squashlibrary.info/wsf-agm-minutes>. It is a unique record of the evolution of international squash management over the past six decades, including decisions, rules and regulations. Against the minutes each year, key decisions are listed to help pinpoint the evolution of the management of the game and the sport itself.

The 2021 WSF AGM will be held virtually on Saturday 27 November.

On 3 July 2017 Professional Squash Association (PSA) and World Squash Federation (WSF) signed a Memorandum of Understanding intended to see the two bodies work in unison towards achieving a joint vision for the future of Squash on a global scale.

The published intention central to the partnership featuring 20 priorities was the development of a global strategy, focusing on objectives such as, securing a place on the Olympic Games programme; maintaining squash's presence on other international multi-sport games programmes; growing participation levels around the world; and encouraging the development of court facilities in conjunction with centres, local associations and national federations. Englishman John Horry was a key person in international squash for over 50 years, starting in 1928 when he saw the future King Edward VIII playing in Nairobi. Managing the English Association from 1955, the de facto world authority it was natural that he should become the first secretary of the World Federation when it was formed in 1967.

Following the foundation in 1967, at the 22nd AGM of the ISRF (International Squash Rackets Federation) in 1992 its member nations approved a new constitution and a new name – World Squash Federation, and logo. World Squash Federation

Ten years ago Dutchman Lou Zandvliet, credited as the founder of the European Squash Federation, passed away at the age of 84. An international player, Zandvliet had the idea of forming a group of European countries to compete against each other and to promote the welfare of Squash, within Europe.
The European Squash Rackets Federation was founded on 17th April 1973, organised by a team of honorary officers and Lou Zandvliet was, from the start, one of the elected vice-chairmen. And following Lennart lepsen's (Sweden) term of office as Chairman at the beginning until 1977, Lou Zandvliet was his natural successor. He presided until 1985.

After coaching and assisting at events for a number of years, in 1993 Liz Addison started with Squash South Africa. Now 28 years later almost certainly the most experienced administrator in Africa is retiring this month.

For the last 20 years (since 2001) she has been Secretary General for the African Squash Federation as the nations wanted her talents too!

To her coaching and event background (including acting as Technical Delegate numerous times), grass roots development always featured highly in areas that she would promote and encourage.

Knowledgeable, experienced, patient and immensely popular too, she has been the go-to person to manage any requirements in her country and region, so it is doubtful that she will be allowed to retire fully!

In 2004 a landmark joint World Squash Anti-Doping Code was signed between the World Federation (WSF) and the Men's & Women's Pro Tours (then PSA & WISPA). The three associations published a common code in their regulations so that testing and penalty procedures became jointly administered.

At that time the Director General of WADA, the World Anti-Doping Agency, stated "Squash has set an example of how professional organisations and leagues can work hand-in-hand with an International Federation to use the Code as the basis for the fight against doping in sport. It is an example we at WADA would encourage all professional organisations and leagues around the world to follow." When the Federation was formed in 1967 it had a Chairman, Vice Chairman, Honorary Treasurer, Executive Secretary and a 5th officer (a representative of a member nation).

In 1987 a motion was passed changing from this to President and 2 Vice Presidents* + Secretary / Treasurer. Following this, in 1991, the number of VPs was expanded to three*. Two years later the Secretary / Treasurer position was dropped. (*Both genders required)

The number of VPs increased from 3 to 4 at the WSF AGM in 2016. At the WSF AGM yesterday, a motion to increase the number of its VPs from four to five was not passed, so 4 VPs is unaltered. World Squash Federation

In 1986 the ISRF (now WSF) and ISPA (now PSA) jointly formed the MISTC (Men's International Squash Tournament Council). It had four primary aims:

1. To develop and co-ordinate the Men's World Calendar
2. To plan and develop a World Grand Prix Circuit for men's squash
3. To issue regular Grand Prix bonus points / latest status reports
4. To arrange contracts with Men's Grand Prix sponsors.

While the Circuit was formed with points published, the search for Grand Prix partners / sponsors didn't succeed, and by 1989 the partnership was disbanded.

In February 1986 the International Olympic Committee (IOC) granted official recognition to the ISRF (now WSF) – thus admitting squash into the Olympic movement. At that point the hope was that squash could try to become a demonstration sport for the Olympic Games in 1992 (Barcelona).

This was not possible for Barcelona, nor Atlanta 1996 or, most disappointingly, Sydney 2000, after which the demonstration sport option was discontinued by IOC. World Squash Federation

The inaugural AGM of the ISRF (International Squash Rackets Federation, now WSF), took place in London on 5 January 1967. The sport of squash had been led by the British Squash Association from its' formation in 1928 until this point.

The seven nations represented were Australia, United Arab Republic (Egypt), Great Britain, India, New Zealand, Pakistan & South Africa.

Englishman Peter Phillips (pic) became the first Chairman – neatly linking the start of ISRF with the beginning of the sport at Harrow school where he was educated! Amongst other items initially dealt with, a constitution was agreed, the Rules in force were adopted, and an initial annual subscription of GB£100 decided.

Arrangements were also made to initiate and manage World Championships.

The issue of USA not being able to join due to not subscribing to one of the main objects of the Federation – upholding the Rules of Squash – due to the variation primarily played there, was overcome by inviting USA & Canada to become Associate members. This was soon upgraded and involvement / championship participation became possible. World Squash Federation

In March 1974 international male players decided to form a player association. Unhappy with the seedings produced for the Prodrorite Open in Birmingham along with other issues, the players met at the event and International Squash Players Professional Association (ISPPA) was born. The 'professional' was almost immediately dropped when a constitution followed, and the name became ISPA until changing to PSA in 1993. Australian Ken Hisco (pic), who had withdrawn from the Prodrorite in protest at the seedings, was appointed President, Jonah Barrington became Chairman and Geoff Hunt Vice President.

To be eligible for membership, players would need to have played in three open tournaments in the preceding 12 months.

When New Zealander Susie Simcock was elected as WSF President at the World Federation AGM in on 12 Oct 1996 at Subang Jaya in Malaysia, she became the first (and so far only) female WSF President.

Commenting on winning the election as a women she said at the time 'It shows that ours is a progressive sport. In many sports this could not happen'.

She went on to very successfully serve three two year terms, the maximum allowable at that time. Pictured here with her successor Jahangir Khan. World Squash Federation Squash New Zealand Susie Simcock

WSF has nearly 150 Full / Associate members, some attending the WSF AGM & Conference beginning tomorrow. But when WSF was formed in 1966 (called ISRF – International Squash Rackets Federation) there were only seven founder members: Australia, Egypt, Great Britain, India, New Zealand, Pakistan & South Africa.
