The World Games, 'the Olympics for non-Olympic sports' starts today in Chengdu, China, and squash will be participating for the 7th time. With squash's place on the programme for the Olympic Games 2028 it will hopefully be a finale.

The medalists at the last event in Birmingham, Alabama, USA, delayed by Covid to 2022 are pictured here. Gregoire Marche, Lucy Beecroft, Victor Crouin & Tinne Gills (gold), Miguel Rodriguez, Coline Aumard

Today 15 years ago (1 Aug 2010) in the thinner air of elevated Quito, Ecuador, the men's World Junior individual title was won by Amr Khaled Khalifa. The Egyptian (pic) beat countryman Ali Farag in the final.

Farag missed out at junior level but did have a stellar career winning four senior world titles.

The World Doubles were first played in 1997 (details here: <https://www.squashlibrary.info/world-championships>), but in March 1972 'The Invitation World Doubles Championships' were played in England. Staged at the Lansdowne Club in London and West Surrey SRC, they were an initiative from Mike Corby Promotions, with Corby teaming up with Jonah Barrington the home side. Geoff Hunt and Ken Hiscoe were the Australian pair, Gogi Alauddin and Hiddy Jahan fronted for Pakistan, and Mo Asran and Abdelfattah Aboutaleb the Egyptian pairing. The finishing positions: 1st Australia, 2nd Egypt, 3rd Pakistan, 4th GB. Squash Library has been seeking out past World Masters results to add to www.squashinfo.com on behalf of WSF. Anybody wanting to see past results can do so generally from the last 16 round for each age group for every year. However, there are still some results missing so this is an appeal to send them to me: andrew@squashlibrary.info if you have them please. Specifically, for 1993 (Edinburgh) and 2006 (Cape Town), only the quarter finals onwards have been added, so last 16 round results would be welcomed. But the real priority is 1995 (Melbourne) where only the final results have been sourced. Any and all missing results welcomed, please.

When the World titles are decided today, there will be debut winners if Mostafa Asal and Hania El Hammamy prevail. However, in the two all-Egyptian finals, an eighth win for Nour ElSherbini would take her alongside current title record holder Nicol David (MAS). Meanwhile, a fifth crown for Ali Farag would move him ahead of fellow Egyptian Amr Shabana and Australian Geoff Hunt into solo third spot on the all-time list. Here are the finalists heads-to-heads produced by Howard Harding's www.squashinfo.com as done as a daily media service for major events. The second men's World Open in 1977 was the first stand-alone event - the inaugural title the year before being added for the British Open winner. Originally scheduled to take place in Sydney, it was relocated to another Australian city – Adelaide. Played October 11 to 22 at the Brahma Lodge Squash Centre, Uniroyal sponsored the event with AS40,000 (£26,000) in prize money - the richest offered in the history of squash at that point. Last round here, full results at <https://www.squashinfo.com/events/1025-mens-world-open-1977>. The Men's World Open was first played in 1976, but an oddly titled 'A World Open Event' took place two years earlier at the Hunts Squash Courts in Melbourne. The application to use 'World Open' was turned down by the World Federation as they had their own plans to initiate it. The event was a 16 player invitation only, and the late request left some players e.g. Jonah Barrington, unable to attend.
(On court world number one Geoff Hunt beat Cam Nancarrow (pic) in an all-Australian final, after they beat Pakistanis Hiddy Jahan and Gogi Alaudin respectively in the semi-finals). Squash - PSA World Tour World Squash Federation Squash Australia

At the World Federation AGM in Helsinki in 1991, the ownership of the Men's World Open title was finally resolved after ten years in which PSA (then called ISPA) had managed it - when the ISRF (now WSF) ceding the title to ISPA was agreed by the AGM. The Library full set of WSF AGM minutes is at www.squashlibrary.info/wsf-agm-minutes. World Squash Federation Squash - PSA World Tour

AMENDED MOTION - OFFICERS

"That the ISRF recognises that ownership of the Men's World Open title is vested with the International Squash Players Association on the understanding that:

- The ISPA recognises and acknowledges the ISRF's sole and exclusive right to promote and organise World Squash Championships for individuals and teams at senior and junior level for both men and women.
- That in years when the Men's World Open and Men's World Team Championships are to be held together, a combined application is made to both the ISPA and the ISRF by the Host Association, and

- That the ISRF recognises the winner of the Men's World Open as World Champion in the absence of the ISRF not itself organising a World Individual Championship for Men."

- Roger Eady of ISPA confirmed that his Association understood and supported the motion by the Officers.

As the chart shows, Australia have had four men and seven women winners since winning the first editions in 1976, and later starters Egypt have had their first male winner in 2003 and woman in 2016.
Four nations have had both male and female world champions.

Ten years ago (Birmingham 2012) saw the first playing of the Men's Over 80 age category of the World Masters. England's Lance Kinder is the holder [pic, centre with, left, Edward Burlingame (USA, silver) and Stanley Fanaroff (RSA, Bronze)] winning in 2018 in Charlottesville, USA when aged 82. Also winner of the British Open Over 80 crown, he has agitated for the introduction of an Over 85 band – so far without success.

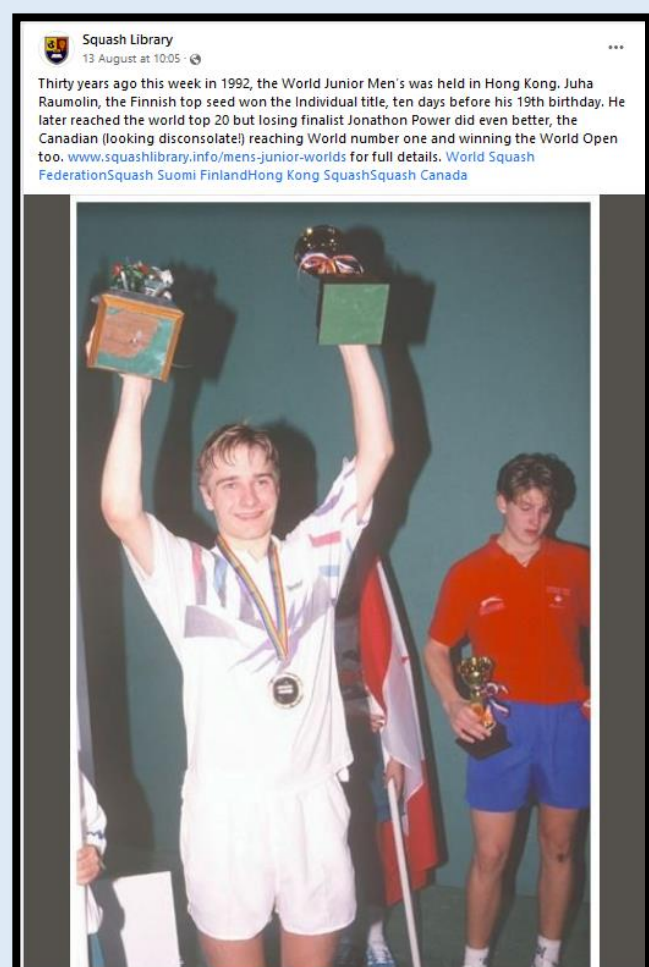

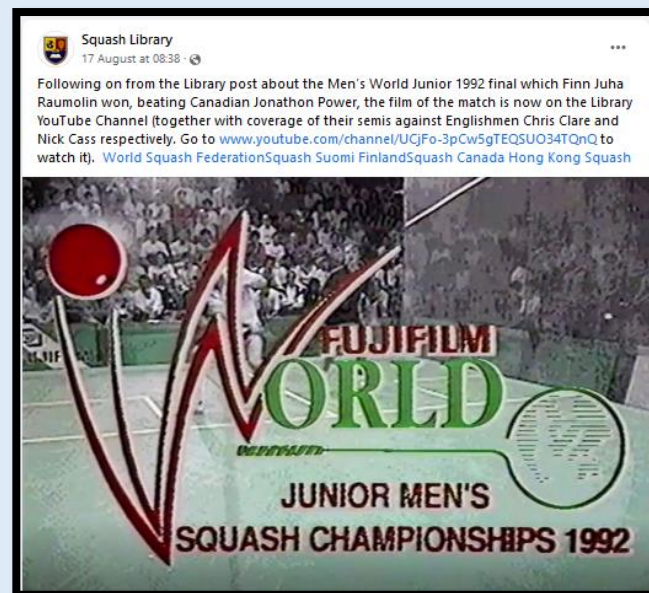

Starting squash aged 40 after boxing for the RAF, the late starter rose rapidly, and even a heart attack in his 60s did not slow him down. But an on-court fall means the 86 year old could not defend his title at the World Masters this week. World Masters follow up: (The full Library World Masters history is at <https://www.squashlibrary.info/world-championships>) Over the years, after the World Masters began with solely Over 45, age bands developed into five year ones from Over 35. When the first stand-alone World Masters event was held in 1991, there were 11 five-year bands (Men's 35+ to 60+, and Women's 35+ to 55+). Now there are 19 bands with Men's expanded up to 80+ and Women's 75+. The Women's first reached Over 70 in 2008, while the men's initiated Over 75 in 2006, with Over 80 first played in Birmingham, England in 2012 (pic). World Squash Federation

Egypt is synonymous with event hosting, currently in El Gouna, but World Federation founder members Egypt had hoped to host their first world championship – the world Amateur Team & Individual – back in 1979. However, while finances were no problem the lack of facilities prevented it. The National Stadium courts (below) would come on stream two years later so the first of the current 13 World Championship stagings in Egypt was the Men's Teams in 1985. In January 1967 the first meeting of the ISRF (now WSF) was held in London, and it was agreed that a three man international team championship should be started. Melbourne, Australia, hosted it later that year. (Full details of all World Championships at <https://www.squashlibrary.info/world-championships>) Six nations entered the inaugural event, which was won by the hosts. The results:

Australia beat Great Britain 3/0, New Zealand 3/0, South Africa 3/0, Pakistan 3/0, India 3/0

Great Britain beat South Africa 2/1, India 3/0, Pakistan 3/0

New Zealand beat Great Britain 3/0, South Africa 2/1, India 2/1

Uniquely, the Men's World Open and Team Championships 1987 involved chartering a train! The World Open was played in Birmingham, England, with the team Championship following in London.

Because of the numbers involved, rather than hiring a fleet of coaches to transport the team members and officials by coach, an InterCity train was arranged to take everybody from Birmingham to the newly opened Kensington Olympia station, close to the London Championship hotel.

The maximum number of national teams who have been able to play in a World Team Championship is 32, more entries meaning regional qualification is required. (Entries & results at <https://www.squashlibrary.info/world-championships>). The maximum has not been exceeded but The Men's has reached 32 on three occasions: 1995 – Cairo, Egypt, 1997 – Petaling Jaya, Malaysia and 2011 – Paderborn, Germany. (The first staging in Melbourne, Australia in 1967 featured six nations).

The Women's highest entry was 26 nations at the 2012 edition in Nimes, France; after also starting with six at the debut event in Birmingham, England in 1979.

P. NUMBERS OF TEAMS AND FORMATS

P1. A maximum of 32 MNFs will qualify to provide teams for a World Team Championship: 17 MNFs (including the Host) will qualify for places on the basis of their final placement in the preceding similar World Team Championship; the remaining 15 places will be allocated to the five WSF Regional Federations as follows:

Africa	2 places
Asia	4 Places
Europe	4 Places
Oceania	1 Place
Pan-America	4 Places

These places will be determined by each Regional Federation either by results from existing Regional Team Championships played between teams of players representing the competing MNFs (preferably three-person teams) or, where this is inappropriate, by separate play-offs within the Region. If any Region fails to take up its quota, the WSF Championships Commission will decide on substitute(s).

When the Men's World Open was played for the second time at the Palais Des Sports in Toulouse, France on 6 – 11 November 1990, there were two showcourts used. And, interestingly, the two Puchaux courts had different colour floors – green and blue, as pictured.

The final was played on green, Pakistan's Jansher Khan beating Australian Chris Dittmar 15-8, 17-15, 13-15, 15-7 to take the third of his eight World Open titles.

THE MEN WHO HAVE REACHED THE PINNACLE – SQUASH'S WORLD TEAM CHAMPIONS

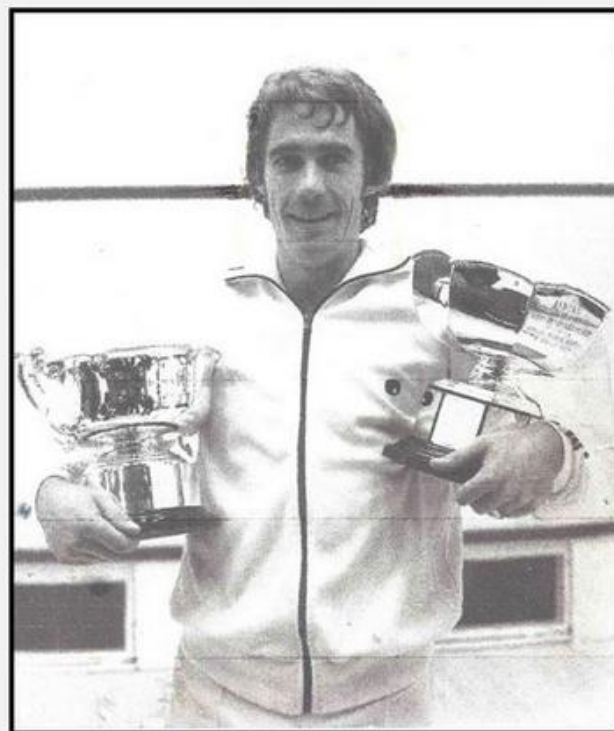

The first Men's World Open was not played as a separate event – the World Federation agreed in 1975 that the winner of the 1976 British Open would be awarded the world title too.

It was played at the Wembley Squash Centre in London, 31 Jan – 9 Feb 1976, and 2nd seed Australian Geoff Hunt beat 4th ranked Mohibullah Khan 7-9, 9-4, 8-10, 9-2, 9-2 in the final. The 130 minute match was the longest recorded at that point. Two other Pakistanis, Qamar Zaman & Gogi Alauddin were seeded 1 & 3 respectively. Hunt (pictured with the two trophies) went on to win the next three World Open titles too, beating Qamar Zaman in each final.

Five players – all from Oceania – have won World Masters titles to add to World Open titles, including one man, Ross Norman. Of these, only Sarah Fitz-Gerald has also won the World Juniors too, to complete the full individual set.

The group, with World Open win dates in brackets, and Masters titles:

Vicki Cardwell (Aus), (1983): O35 – 1990, O45 – 2001, O55 – 2010
Sarah Fitz-Gerald (Aus), (1996, 97, 98, 01, 02): O35 – 2006, O45 – 2014, 16, 18

Michelle Martin (Aus), (1993, 94, 95): O45 – 2012

Heather McKay (Aus), (1976, 79): O45 – 1987, 90, O50 – 1993, 95

Ross Norman (Nzl), (1986): O40 – 1999

Only three men have gone on from being World Junior to World Senior Champion. They are Pakistani Jansher Khan along with Egyptians Rami Ashour and Mohamed Elshorbagy.

However six women have completed the double. Names and dates in the chart.

(Note: Jansher Khan took the least time to add the World Open – 18 months, while Rachael Grinham the longest at over 14 years)

When World Championships began the host nation chose which ball would be used. That ended after the Swedish hosts of the World Juniors in 1980 decided on the green 'general use' ball (1980 ad here), much to the shock of players & managers. Since then since then an 'adopted' World Championship Ball has been designated.

The Dunlop Black. The official SRA ball. Chosen for the World Open in Toronto, it's made its mark in more championships than any other ball in the world.

The Dunlop Green. As close as you can get to championship standard, in a ball that so seldom makes its mark, you can use it on any court in the country.

You can't imagine squash without Dunlop.
DUNLOP SPORTS

For the event a further two showcourts were erected in the sport hall – making it unique in using six glass showcourts for an event!

The format of World Team Championships now mean that ordinarily a nation plays a maximum of seven ties. But go back to October 1987 where the entry for the Men's World Team Championship in England was eight more than the previous record, the format meant that 20 nations were given direct access into initial pools, joined by four qualifiers from the two preliminary pools of four teams. The winners went straight through but the second & third in the pools had a playoff tie.

After six team pools, the final stage was 1 – 8, 9 – 16 and 17 – 24 places. This meant that Norway, and Kuwait who succeeded in the preliminary pools after playoffs had played a total of 12 times. And only two players – Norway's Johan Abyholm (left) and Kuwaiti Tariq Al-Oweish, featured in all 12. For the record, Abyholm won 8, while Al-Oweish won 2.

Can you win half a World Individual title? If so, perhaps Nicol David, Raneem El Welily and Ramy Ashour have all won 2.5 World Junior titles! When they won in 1999 / 01, 2005 / 07 and 2004 / 06 respectively the event was only contested every other year so had a gap year before their second.

After 2009 it became an annual championship.

11 November 1986 was a squash milestone – being the date when Ross Norman ended Jahangir Khan's 5year 7month unbeaten spell in the final of the World Open at the Palais Des Sports in Toulouse, France.

But three years earlier was a significant time too. The summer of 1983 was when the New Zealander wrecked his knee landing awkwardly on the edge of the runway at the end of his first ever parachute jump. He reported it as 'it felt like falling out of a two-storey building'. Having severed one ligament and displaced another it seemed unlikely that he would play again. He did, and the rest, as they say, is history!

For every World Open winner there is a final loser too. The record of number of finals reached without a win goes to two great players who were very unlucky not to have won a 'worlds'. Australian Chris Dittmar with five, losing four times to Jansher Khan, (87, 89 in pic, 90 & 92) and once to Jahangir Khan (84). Natalie Grinham lost three finals under the Australian flag Vanessa Atkinson (04), Nicol David (06) and sister Rachael (07); and one to David (09) as a Dutch player.

When Jonathon Power beat Peter Nicol 3-1 to win the World Open in Qatar in 1998 the Canadian became the first and so far only Pan-American man or woman to win the World Championship. The region has done better in the Juniors though, with Amanda Sobhy (USA, 2010) and Diego Elias (Peru, 2014 & 2015) winning World Junior individual titles. The first Men's World Open took place in 1976, not separately but as a joint title with the British Open – as a month before the start the sponsorship had not been found to fund the prize money. At that point a chance meeting between Jonah Barrington and an executive from British automotive company Lucas Industries led to a last-minute rescue enabling Australian Hunt to beat Pakistani Mohibullah Khan in the final 7/9, 9/4, 8/10, 9/2, 9/2 to win the first of his three World Opens (after previously winning three World Amateur crowns).

Jansher Khan holds the record for Men's World Championship titles, with 8, two ahead of fellow Pakistani Jahangir Khan. His first was in 1987 in England, the last in his own country, in Karachi, in 1996. He only lost one final, to Jahangir in 1988 in Amsterdam, though his run was also interrupted in 1991 in Adelaide, Australia, when Rodney Martin beat Jahangir in the final, having beaten Jansher in the quarters. ATLAS KHAN

Aged 21 years.
Atlas Khan is the younger brother of world ranked Mohibullah. He was a member of the Pakistan team that finished 2nd in the World Championships last year. Also he was runner up in the Pakistan Amateur 1975. Atlas played on the Pakistan team that finished 2nd in the World Open Team Championships in 1976. He was a losing semi-finalist in the Pakistan Championships in 1977.

DAULAT KHAN

Aged 19 years.
When he was 10 years old he won the Under-12 Pakistan Championship. Two years later at the age of 12 he was a losing semi-finalist in their National Junior Championships (18 and under) and he was a semi-finalist in the 1976 Pakistan Amateur Championship.

MAQSOOD AHMED

Aged 20 years.
Maqsood Ahmed is considered by many to be Pakistan's no. 1 amateur. He is the younger brother of Muhammad Saleem. He was a member of the Pakistan team that finished 2nd in the World Open Team Championships in 1976. He also represented Pakistan in the 5th World Amateur Team Championships in London in 1976. In 1979 and 77 he won the Pakistan Amateur Championship and he recently upset Mohibullah in the finals of the Pakistan Open in 1977.

MUHAMMAD SALEEM

Past Men's World Team Champions (#2 of 5).
2nd after Australia were the English players representing Great Britain, who won in 1976 & 1979. Their 2nd in 1979 was the last before the game went 'open' and home countries entered separately.

The WSF Men's World Team Championship starts in Washington DC tomorrow. The first one was played 52 years ago in Sydney in 1967, and featured six nations playing in a single group.

Australia were the inaugural winners not losing a match, and beating Great Britain to take top spot. Pakistan finished in last place (but did subsequently win the title six times). World Squash Federation WSF Men's World Team Squash Championship

With Egypt seeded one and hot favourites to retain the WSF Men's World Team Championship this month their path towards dominance may be relatively short, but is clear.

It started with the Junior Men's in 1994 when Egypt won their first ever team title led by Ahmed Barada & Omar Elborolossy. (All are biennial and this one has been won six times).

Juniors moved up and after the first Men's won on home ground in 1999, four of these titles have been won in all – but with England proving to be a stumbling block with three of their own during this period.

The same pattern was followed on the female side with the juniors coming first. After a first title in 1999 the girls have eight in total including the last six.

The Egyptian Women's team took their first title in 2008 and have four titles in all.

The Land of The Pharaohs currently hold all four major World Team titles.

So far, no less than 31 countries have hosted WSF World Team Championships Senior & Junior (so not including World Individuals, Masters, Doubles).

The leader-board of events:

New Zealand, 8

Australia, 7

Canada / Egypt / England, all 6

New Zealand is also joint-top the chart of most cities used, along with England & Canada, all 5:

- Canada (Calgary, Edmonton, Niagara, Toronto, Vancouver). First one in 1977, pictured.

- England (Birmingham, Brighton, Guernsey, London, Sheffield)

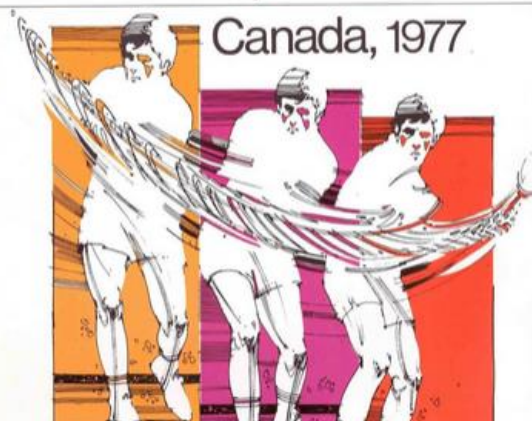

- New Zealand (Auckland, Christchurch, Hamilton, Palmerston North, Tauranga)

When it comes to the single city that has hosted most of these events, Cairo with 6 tops the list, followed by Chennai with 4. (But if other World / Regional events are added, The Squash Academy in Chennai would be the overall most prolific host city). The Men's World Championship starting today in Qatar is the fifth held there. The first in Doha was in 1998 and saw Canadian Jonathon Power win the title, beating Peter Nicol (Scotland at that point, later England) 15-17, 15-7, 15-9, 15-10.

It was Power's one World title – with Nicol winning his own single one a year later after two R/Ups.

France's Thierry Lincou won the 2nd in Qatar in 2004 and Ramy Ashour took the third and fourth for Egypt in 2012 and 2014. PSA World Champ... See more
